Sides for Receptionist

Scene 9. INT. Police Station - Day

The Receptionist is self absorbed and believes he/she should be in a role of higher power. He/she doesn't take the current position seriously and reflects it in his/her work.

START

INT. POLICE STATION - DAY

A RECEPTIONIST in a collared white shirt sits behind a desk.

RECEPTIONIST

Can I help you, miss?

LOTTIE

Yes, I need to confess... to a crime.

The receptionist's expression shifts to confusion.

RECEPTIONIST

I'm sorry, you may have to be more specific.

Lottie takes a deep breath.

LOTTIE

I was involved in a hit-and-run accident five years ago.

A little girl named Faith was killed.

The receptionist's eyes widened in confusion.

RECEPTIONIST

Wait, you're saying you are responsible for that incident?

Lottie nods, her voice barely above a whisper.

LOTTIE

Yes, I need to confess. I can't live with this any longer.

The receptionist quickly picks up the phone and dials a number.

RECEPTIONIST

Please, have a seat. Someone will be with you shortly.

Lottie nods, her heart pounding as she takes a seat nearby.
